Adam Hejduk 1

Barbara Barklow

Monsters and Misfits

January 10,2017

This is advice for all readers of my page out there.Life is short so try to enjoy it as much possible.If you have chance do something then do it,don't wait for another opportunity because that can never come again.I have life different than you and I wish I was normal like you,without disorder,without DID and my inner characters agree with this.We have only one life and we can't choose it from the beginning but we can shape our life throughout our living and it's only on you who you will become and what you will do.Do whatever you want,it's your life and don't listen to others haters.Live your own life,why would you live others people life when you can have such a beautiful life in front of your hands?